

words and music
by Joel Justin

Lost Dog

He lost his dog as a matter of fact and that's the reason he ain't coming back called his boss but he never called back and that's the reason he's still making tracks he hit the road in a heavy down pour changed his mind and his heart part put his back to the door headed south where he thought it'd be warm but that man lost his dog got his head in a storm he claimed a wife but he broke her heart treated her bad right from the start called his mom thought about movin' back she he hung up the phone as a matter of fact he drove around 'til the moon went down then a light in the sky got him turned all around the sun went up and the sun went down but that man lost his dog got him turned all around turn around turn around

he hit the road not knowin' what ly ahead yeah that man lost his dog and it's messed with his head
the sun went up and the sun went down
but that man lost his dog got him turned all around

he found his dog as a matter of fact you harden your heart and they ain't coming back called his wife but she never called back and that's the reason he's still makin' tracks

he hit the road not knowin' what ly ahead
yeah that man lost his dog and it's messed with his head
the sun went up and the sun went down
but that man lost his dog got him turned all around

hit the road not knowin' what ly ahead yeah that man lost his dog and it's messed with his head
the sun went up and the sun went down
but that man lost his dog got him turned all around turn around turn around.